

How sweet is your mum?

Just as your mum isn't any old mum, Terra Rossa's gorgeous confectionery is also one of a kind. All the way from the sunny climes of the Levant and packed with mouth-watering flavours which are just as sweet as she is, making it an ideal gift for Mothering Sunday.

Manna from Heaven is a unique Middle Eastern delicacy made from the resin of trees which grow only in the north of Iraq, combined with mixed almonds, pistachio nuts and cardamom. Alternatively, traditional Jordanian Nougat is made with scrumptious pistachio and apricot skin – perfect to enjoy with her feet up and a cup of coffee.

Offering all the colours of spring, Terra Rossa's Sugar Coated Almonds, also known as Jordan Almonds, are presented in beautiful organza bags. The bittersweet flavour of almonds with a sugar coating signifies the hope that sweet will outweigh any bitterness making them a delicious treat and a thoughtful gift at the same time.

All delightfully gift wrapped these wonderful sweets are available on their own, or for the ultimate gift combine all three with one of Terra Rossa's handmade Jordanian sweet bags. The great news is, starting from just £5.95 a pack, they won't break the bank and make a really nice change from traditional chocolates and flowers.
